An article provided by the Committee will then be placed by the handler 1,50 metres in front of the dog. He will command the dog to guard this article and proceed out of the dog's sight to a point determined by the judge(s).
- 19.5.2 A "criminal" will thereupon arrive at the place where the dog is guarding the article and circle the dog and article twice, remaining on the outside of the article while doing this. He will make a stop at the article as instructed by the judge(s) without actually making any attempt to snatch the article. The same procedure shall apply in all respects to all competitors. During these activities the dog shall not attack the "criminal" until the "criminal" has snatched the article or taken the article or endeavoured to do so.
- 19.5.3 During the apprehension of the "criminal" by the dog the handler will emerge from his concealment and command his dog to release the "criminal" and immediately bring the dog to heel.
- 19.5.4 The Handler shall, with his dog at heel position, interrogate the "criminal". During this interrogation the "criminal" shall talk to the handler, gesticulate and begin moving backwards. The test here is the dog's reaction towards incitement. After fifteen (15) backward paces the "criminal", while continuing talking and gesticulating, will firstly fire a shot into the ground and then secondly will turn and run away. The 'gun' used must be a suitable starter's pistol, electronic starter's pistol, cap gun or blank pistol. Under no circumstances may live ammunition be used. Effective ear protection must be worn by the person firing the gun, e.g. earmuffs, headphones or earplugs (inserts).

- 19.5.6 While the "criminal" is in full flight the handler will command his dog to apprehend the "criminal". Upon this command the dog will pursue and apprehend the "criminal".
- 19.5.7 The handler shall immediately proceed to the dog and "criminal" and upon his arrival command the dog to release the "criminal".
- 19.5.8 The handler shall thereon command the dog to a sit, stand or down position at a strategic point and search the "criminal" for concealed weapons.
- 19.5.9 After such search the handler will move approximately five (5) paces away from the "criminal" and slightly to the side of him, and call his dog directly into heel position. In executing this movement, the handler will place himself slightly behind the "criminal" and in such a position so that, when he calls his dog to him, the dog must pass close to the "criminal" in order to obey the heel command. The closeness that the dog passes the "criminal" in this movement, as well as the dog's reaction towards the "criminal" when passing him, will be taken into account and marked accordingly. The handler will be penalised should he at any time during the execution of the exercise move between his dog and the “criminal”.

- 19.5.10 After the dog has been recalled to heel the handler and dog will escort the “criminal” for at least thirty (30) paces before halting and releasing the “criminal”.
- 19.5.11 During the escort the “criminal” shall be required by the handler to walk approximately five (5) paces in front of him and the dog shall either be in the heel position or between the handler and “criminal”. The dog will be penalised if he walks in front of or alongside the “criminal”.
- 19.5.12 After the criminal has been ordered to halt prior to his release, the dog shall immediately come to heel if he had been between the handler and “criminal” during the escort. When the dog is in heel position the handler will inform the “criminal” that he is free and instruct him to move in a direction indicated. The handler and dog, still in heel position, will immediately walk off in a direction diagonally opposite to the “criminal” in such a way that the dog, and not the handler, is still closest to the “criminal”.
- 19.5.13 During the entire exercise described above, the dog shall at all times work free and not be held by the handler by leash, collar or other method. The handler shall control his dog by voice, hand signal, or whistle, and any physical handling by the handler of the dog will be heavily penalised.
