The Learner Judge is required to serve as a Ring Steward at a minimum of one (1) Non-Championship show and one (1) Championship show, preferably in the group/breed the Learner Judge is studying, although ring stewardship in another group/breed will be accepted if it is impossible to arrange an appointment in the group/breed being studied within an acceptable period. The ring-stewardship appointments may be completed in any order and not necessarily before the first judging assignment, although this is strongly advised. The Learner Judge may serve additional appointments as a Ring Steward in the group/breed he/she is studying or any other group, but these appointments will not be counted towards the module requirements.
- 2.2.3. A Learner Judge studying an approved Breed Specialisation (single breed) course.

2.3. JUDGING APPOINTMENTS

- 2.3.1. A Learner Judge studying a whole group
- 2.3.1.1 The Learner Judge will need to judge:
- a) at least 8 different breeds in the chosen group
 - b) at least 60 exhibits on which evaluations are written
 - c) at a minimum of 3 Non-Championship shows
- 2.3.1.2 A Learner Judge studying a whole group
- a) who is not qualified at Level 4 for any single breed within that group, must judge the whole group on at least two (2) occasions, the balance of which may be judged at Speciality Shows of breeds within the group being studied.

b) who is qualified at Level 4 for any single breed(s) within that group, must judge the whole group, excluding the single breed(s) qualified at Level 4, on at least two (2) occasions, the balance of which may be judged at Speciality shows of the breeds within the group being studied.

2.3.1.3 No more than 40 exhibits in one breed may be credited to the quota.

2.3.1.4 A Learner Judge who has a Breed Specialisation (single breed) qualification at Level 4, may carry all credits gained through Breed Specialisation (single breed) study, towards the judging requirements for Group study.

2.3.1.5 A Learner Judge who has applied to study a whole group may credit at most 50% of the required credits for specialisation, being gained through whole group study, towards Breed Specialisation (single breed) modules – i.e. no more than 20 credits (evaluations). The balance of credits (evaluations) will still need to be submitted over the required number of shows (2).

2.3.2. A Learner Judge studying an approved Breed Specialisation (single breed) course

2.3.2.1. The Learner Judge will need to judge:

a) at least 40 exhibits on which evaluations are written

b) at a minimum of 2 Non-Championship Shows of which one

(1) must be a Speciality Show and one (1) may be a Breed appointment at a Group or All Breeds Show. Both may be Non-Championship Speciality Shows.

c) Learner Judges studying Rottweiler Specialisation and who have successfully completed the Rottweiler Breed Council (RBC) Specialist Training Modules 1-3 BEFORE enrolling in the KUSA Rottweiler specialization course, will be credited with eight (8) 'critiques' completed in the RBC training modules and will only need to judge 32 exhibits on which evaluations are written.

2.3.3. At least one of the judging appointments must be outside of the Learner Judge's Provincial Council area; more if possible.

2.3.4. Assessment:

2.3.4.1. At the Learner Judge's first assignment only, an Assessor will be assigned by the PBJSC to observe the Learner Judge's ring procedure and ethical behaviour. An evaluation will be completed after a performance assessment according to objective, standardised criteria, during which the Learner Judge will be invited to discuss placements made and techniques practised. The Assessor may offer procedural advice, if requested, but may not impose personal preferences or make value judgements.

2.3.4.2. No assessments will take place during subsequent Level 2 studies following the successful completion of Level 2 for the first time.

2.4. EVALUATIONS

2.4.1 During judging at Non-Championship shows, an evaluation must be typed or written in clearly legible handwriting on at least the first- and second-placed exhibits in each class judged.

Evaluations may also be written on all exhibits, if desired.

(Note: Until the Learner Judge has become accustomed to completing evaluations in the ring quickly and effectively, he/she may take or record notes for later evaluation production)

2.4.2 A minimum of 60 evaluations must be written over the minimum 3 appointments.

2.4.3 Once a Judge has completed the required evaluations on a particular group, they have four consecutive exam opportunities from the date they have completed the final evaluations. During this period they may continue judging for hands-on experience, without evaluations. If the exam is not written within the required time, then no further judging will be approved for that Group. The same applies should a judge be unsuccessful in passing the Part 2 exam.

2.4.4 Evaluations on challenges at Best in Show, Best Puppy in Show level will not be credited towards the required total.

2.4.5 The evaluation is written or typed in a prescribed format, as demonstrated and instructed in the relevant study guide, and submitted to the local PBJSC within one (1) month of the appointment.

2.4.6 If, due to illness or extenuating circumstances, the one (1) month deadline cannot be met, the Learner Judge may apply to the Judges Department at the Kennel Union prior to the end of the initial deadline for a one (1) month extension.

2.4.7 A Learner Judge is not permitted to undertake a judging appointment without submitting evaluations unless the quota of 60 evaluations has already been met at the first two judging appointments and the remaining appointment is necessary to meet the requirement of judging three (3) Non-Championship appointments.

(Note: Learner Judges residing in the Eastern Cape and Free State/Northern Cape only are permitted one additional group at a judging appointment per year in their home areas over and above the 1 or 2 groups that they are currently studying.

A judge from any province who is invited to judge at open shows in the Eastern Cape, Namibia or Free State/Northern Cape (excluding FS/NC open shows held near Johannesburg) will be permitted to judge one additional group at a judging appointment per year over and above the 1 or 2 groups that they are currently studying. Evaluations must be written for that judging appointment and stored in the Judge's portfolio until they start studying that group.)

2.4.8 If a Learner Judge fails to submit evaluations within the required deadline (one (1) month) and the extension (one (1) month), he/she will be deemed to have exited the KUSA Breed Judges Learning Programme and will need to re-register to study Level 2 for the group or breed concerned. No credits already gained shall be carried forward without the approval of Exco, who will consider all extenuating circumstances.

2.4.9 Assessment: Assessors will evaluate the constructiveness and completion of the evaluations according to specific criteria. Should the quality of evaluations be lacking, the Learner Judge may be tutored and advised to accept additional judging appointment(s) to rework the style of evaluation preparation.

2.4.10. Organisation: Evaluations are submitted to the local PBJSC for assessment within one (1) month of the judging assignment. Once assessed, they will be returned to the Learner Judge for filing in the portfolio.

2.5. OBSERVATION

2.5.1. The Learner Judge observes the judging of:

2.5.1.1. preferably, one Championship Specialty Show in the group or breed being studied

2.5.1.2. alternatively, a Championship Group Show

2.5.1.3. or, the Group at a Championship All-breeds Show.

2.5.2. If studying a single breed only, the observation must take place at a Championship Breed Specialty Show.

2.5.3. The officiating judge will be a South African Licensed Judge or a Visiting Judge who is willing to allow observations. Under these circumstances, the judge should be willing to discuss procedures and techniques, plus reasons for his/her placements as a form of guidance.

2.5.4. Learner Judges may select a judge to observe from published schedules and apply in writing to the Club Secretary, who will request permission from the officiating judge on the Learner Judge's behalf.

2.5.5. During the observation, the Learner Judge plays no role in judging or examining the exhibits, except from his/her vantage position. The Learner Judge may have no contact with the exhibitor or the exhibits, and may neither enter for competition nor handle a dog under this judge at this time nor within two weeks of the observation.

2.5.6. Assessment: On completion of the observation assignment, the Learner Judge completes an observation evaluation form according to prescribed guidelines.

(Note: the observation evaluation is not an evaluation of the judge of the day, but an analysis of ring procedure, how to approach particular breeds, how to examine a dog, what to observe as a dog gaits, and an analysis of various gaiting patterns and their purpose).

2.5.7. Organisation: The observation evaluation form is stored in the portfolio, which is submitted for assessment on completion of all the modules, or earlier. The Learner Judge must obtain a signed proof of observation from the observed Licensed Judge on the prescribed form, which must accompany the Learner Judge's evaluation.

2.6. SEMINARS

2.6.1. A Learner Judge studying an approved Breed Specialisation course must attend one (1) seminar covering a detailed explanation of the characteristics of the breed being studied.

2.6.2. A Learner Judge studying a whole group must attend seminars covering a minimum of three (3) breeds per group to meet the requirements for this level.

2.6.3 The following types of seminars may be considered:

2.6.3.1 Breed workshops: This is a comprehensive lecture where a single breed is discussed in great detail, usually accompanied with a visual presentation and breed notes, and preferably live exhibits for observation.

2.6.3.2 Breed clinics: A small selection of breeds within a group are presented by breeders / breed experts. Since it is not possible to go into detail for each breed, specific topics may be highlighted with the emphasis on hands-on experience with live exhibits and breed notes that extend beyond the breed standard.

2.6.3.3 Seminars: Usually a visual presentation on any judging-related topic, eg. canine anatomy. Preferably accompanied with notes and hands-on activities.

2.6.3.4 Private breed discussions: Learner Judges residing in geographical areas where seminars are infrequently offered, may gain equivalent credit for no more than 2 seminars by approaching experienced the Kennel Union-registered breeders of choice for a one-on-one, in-depth discussion with reference to live exhibits. The discussion should include open discussion and guidance with regard to breed type and styles, characteristics, methods of approaching and judging the breed, etc. The central focus of the visit or discussion is not to compare one kennel or breeding style with another, but to allow hands-on exploration of the breed(s) in an educative manner.

2.6.4 Credit will be given for previously-attended seminars covering the group/breed being studied, providing proof of attendance is provided.

2.6.5 Assessment & organisation:

2.6.5.1 When attending a formal breed workshop, breed clinic or seminar, the Learner Judge must sign the attendance register which will be forwarded by the Seminar Host to the Kennel Union for record.

2.6.5.2 A private breed discussion must be supported and endorsed on a Club letterhead by the Chairman of a relevant Group or Specialist Club or, if not available, an All-breeds Club in the relevant geographical area, and the Breeder who delivered the lecture/discussion.

2.7. BREED ASSIGNMENTS

2.7.2.1. The Learner Judge prepares a brief list of breed hallmarks that succinctly encapsulate the essence of a minimum of 15 breeds.

2.7.2.2. The Learner Judge analyses the breed standards to identify and compare similarities and differences between breeds, best organised in a table of breed-specific characteristics.

2.7.3. Learner Judge studying an approved Breed Specialisation (single breed) course

2.7.3.1 The Learner Judge prepares four essays of approximately 500 words (one A4 typed page) on each of the four topics prescribed by the relevant Breed Councils or the Breed Specialist Clubs or if no specialist Club the NBJSC.

2.7.4. Support material will offer clear guidance on how to prepare these assignments.

2.7.5. Organisation: Breed assignments are stored in the portfolio, which is submitted for assessment to the Learner Judge's PBJSC on completion of all the modules, or earlier.

2.7.6. Assessment: Assessors will record the successful completion of the breed assignments. Should the quality of the analysis be lacking, the Learner Judge may be advised to rework them.

2.8. PORTFOLIO

2.8.1. The Learner Judge keeps a portfolio to record evaluations, summaries, observations, assignments, and any learning material in support of his/her study.

2.8.2. The portfolio can take any or many formats, eg. ring file, box folder, CD, DVD, flash drive, or any form of electronic media.

2.8.3. The portfolio is intended as an ongoing record of assignments and projects as well as any support material that may find use in the judge's study and future performance. It is encouraged to grow the portfolio eventually to a private library of resources.

2.8.4. Organisation: Once the Learner Judge has completed all the requirements of the level, the portfolio is submitted for evaluation. Should there be no approved Assessor in the area, the portfolio may be submitted via another PBJSC to an approved Assessor in that area.

2.8.5. Assessment:

2.8.5.1 The purpose of the evaluation is to ensure that all modules have been completed at a standard sufficient enough to secure a successful evaluation. If there are assignments that do not yet meet the required standard, these are indicated and the learner is advised to rework assignments where appropriate. Only the reworked tasks need to be resubmitted by the Learner Judge.

2.8.5.2 On completion of the Assessor's evaluation, the portfolio may be moderated by an approved Moderator before returning it to the Learner Judge together with feedback comments.

2.9. EXAMINATION: PAPER 2
